Bilbo Threatens Filibuster on Poll Tax Bill

Washington, May 28 —(AP)—Senator Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi, took a deep breath today and announced he is ready to conduct an 18-month, one-man filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill if, as, and when it is called up in the Senate.

He came right out and said "filibuster", too. Some statesmen shy away from the word even while engaging in oratory patently designed to kill time — but not the little Democrat from Poplarville who helped talk to death a similar measure in the closing days of the last session.

The current session ends in January, 1945, and the poll tax bill, already approved by the House, could be called up any time it emerged from the committee.

Hence Bilbo was committing himself to underwrite a year and a half of talk.

"I could easily discuss the bill for a year and half and I'm now ready to start," he said, clearing his throat.

In fact, he intimated, that period would be barely sufficient to outline even his mildest objections to the legislation, which he considers an unwarranted invasion of states' rights, strictly unconstitutional, and provocative of disunity.

"This is my opportunity to contribute my services in helping preserve, protect and defend the American Democratic scheme of government," he said.

"I will feel that I am just as much a soldier as a Marine on Guadalcanal or a private on Attu Island."

The bill would make it unlawful to require the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting at a federal election, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Arkansas and Texas have poll tax laws.

Amity Restored in Nation's Rubber Plants

By The Associated Press
Amity was restored in the rubber industry today as workers returned to their jobs in response to appeals based on the nation's need for their war products but in internal dissension broke out in one segment of organized labor.

President Roosevelt's appeal to the Akron, O., workers to go back to their machines ended a strike of 50,000 at the nation's greatest rubber plants — Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone and General. Strikers at the U. S. Rubber Company's Buffalo, N. Y., plant also voted to return after a Navy spokesman warned that the armed forces would take over unless the walk-out ended. The rubber strikes all ended with War Labor Board handling of wage disputes.

Production virtually halted however at the Marlin Rockwell ball and roller bearing plant, largest war production factory in Jamestown, N. Y., where 1,600 CIO United Automobile Workers joined in a strike unauthorized by the union. The men protested hiring of workers from outside at what they said were higher wages than they received.

The American Federation of Labor, meanwhile, lost one of its most powerful allies. The International Association of Machinists announced it would withdraw from the federation May 31, contending its jurisdictional rights over certain work, involving the carpenters' union, had not been protected by the AFL. Their ranks numbered about the same as the United Mine Workers now seeking to return to membership in the AFL.

Byrnes to Head Office of War Mobilization

—Washington

By The Associated Press
Washington, May 28 —(AP)— A six-man War Mobilization Board, with vast powers over the nation's war effort on the home front, was set up today by President Roosevelt.

James F. Byrnes was named to head the new super agency — and thus became the czar of czars in this capital.

The board's duty, President Roosevelt said, is to keep "both our military machine and our essential civilian economy running in team and at high speed."

Specifically, the board is directed to unify activities of federal agencies and departments "engaged in or concerned with production, procurement, distribution or transportation of military or civilian supplies, materials and products and to resolve and determine controversies between such agencies or departments."

The power to resolve inter-agency disputes means that Byrnes will be the arbiter in any future controversies such as that between Rubber Director William M. Jeffers and Undersecretary of War Patterson.

There has been recurring talk in Congress, and bills have been introduced to achieve the end, that there should be some central, overall agency trying in the various efforts of making war at home. President Roosevelt's action followed the general pattern, all though no specifically going so far as some have suggested in calling for such things as a war board whose powers would include the drafting of war workers.

Byrnes' board is composed of these officials:

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Chairman Harry L. Hopkins, Board, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board, and Judge Fred M. Vinson, who takes over the job Byrnes is leaving, the Office of Economic Stabilization.

Byrnes is one-time South Carolina Senator who left the Supreme Court to become director of economic stabilization. Apparently the development of the airplane, the president free to give more of his time to the unfolding problems of war strategy.

Judge Vinson, now on the bench of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia, served in Congress from Kentucky for 14 years and is considered an authority on taxation and economic matters.

As director of economic stabilization he will have the duty of carrying on the fight against inflation.

Byrnes' new office, unparalleled in American history, was assigned this function.

"To develop unified programs and to establish policies for the maximum use of the nation's resources."

Emmons Is Replaced in Hawaii

Honolulu, May 28 —(AP)— Lieut. General Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian Department of the U. S. Army during the grim days following the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, will be replaced by Major Gen. Robert C. Richardson, General Emmons, who made the announcement of the change yesterday after he had received the distinguished service medal in recognition of his outstanding work here, did not disclose his new assignment but speculation immediately arose that he might take over the western defense command and the Fourth Army now headed by Lieut. Gen. John L. Dewitt.

"There wouldn't be a more pleasant place to serve" than San Francisco, General Emmons said in explaining he was unable to announce his new post.

In San Francisco, Rep. Richard J. Welch (R-Calif.) said in an interview this week that there was a difference between General Dewitt and a War Department faction over Dewitt's vigorous opposition to any relaxation of the rules excluding Japanese from western defense areas, and, because of it, Dewitt was to be transferred with General Emmons replacing him.

Flood Waters Fall at Some Critical Points

By The Associated Press
The mighty Mississippi river and some of its flooded tributaries were receding at several critical points today while thousands of farmers in inundated areas hoped to be able to start their belated wartime food production soon.

Army engineers estimated, however, some of the land would not be tillable for another month.

Even as it receded from flood-devastated areas, the Mississippi approached a record crest at Cape Girardeau, Mo., of 42.5 feet. Dikes to the south were expected to be able to hold the torrent.

The Illinois and Arkansas rivers also were dropping and Col. L. B. Feagin of the United States Army Engineers at St. Louis said he did not expect the Mississippi to get out of hand below Cairo, Ill. The Ohio river, in past years an equally dangerous partner in flood destruction, was below bank-full.

However, Colonel Feagin warned that while the Mississippi was receding above Cape Girardeau the danger there was not past. The remaining levees, he said, were saturated and a sudden washout could put thousands of additional acres under water.

The crest of the Arkansas was moving on from Little Rock to Pine Bluff, Ark., after inundating 50 blocks of the former city. Below Pine Bluff the stream is flanked by huge levees, that the army engineers believed would be able to hold it.

Meanwhile, the water-ratified residents of Port Smith expected a plentiful water supply by Monday. The 125th engineers' battalion last night completed emergency connections with the city's regular water source. The connection was the second constructed in weeks. Previously laid emergency lines were broken as the flood continued to rise.

Beardsdown, on the Illinois river, appeared to have won out over the river. The river climbed up to within six inches of the top of the seawall, built up to 30 feet with sand bags and planking, and then started to drop.

The Mississippi reached 42.3 feet at Cape Girardeau yesterday, to top the 18.44 mark of 42.10. The waterfront section of the city already was flooded, but the remainder of the town is on a bluff above the water line.

The $9,000,000 central, Illinois Public Service generating plant still was protected as the river receded, and Red Cross workers arrived last night at nearby Grand Tower where 1,200 persons were marooned in the small section of the town still above water. A ferry was arranged to bring food and medical supplies to the town.

The Red Cross, engineers and local officers urged all evacuees to remain away from their homes until official approval was given for return to the flooded areas.

Food Parley Takes Up Post War Prices

By OVID A. MARTIN
Hot Springs, Va., May 28 —(AP)— Producer expressions of concern over postwar farm prices crept into the United Nations food conference discussion today.

They came from three western hemisphere sources — the United States, Brazil and Canada.

Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio State Farm Bureau Federation and a member of this country's delegation, reported many farmers had gotten the impression the conference was searching for ways to supply consumers with "plenty of cheap food."

Lincoln said he was taking steps to reassure farm leaders the program being projected here was based on the premise farmers would get "equitable prices" for a "much greater output of commodities than heretofore produced."

From the Brazilian delegation came a word of caution that the conference goal of a better-fed world could be achieved only if agricultural prices were stabilized on a basis of parity with industrial products. It asked the parley to go on record in support of "equality" between agricultural and industrial product prices.

The Canadian delegation, with

Doughton Now Might Favor a Sales Tax

Washington, May 28 —(AP)— Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the tax-farming House Ways and Means committee, long time foe of a federal retail sales tax, said today he might favor such a tax "as a last resort" to help finance the war.

"I am speaking for no other member of the committee," he said, "but for myself, I believe that a sales tax should be adopted only if, at all, after all other reasonable means of taxation have been exhausted."

Doughton expressed this view as Capitol Hill began speculating on how to raise $18,000,000 additional in taxes and compulsory savings, as recommended by President Roosevelt.

The Ways and Means committee will start work on a new general tax bill "as soon as practicable," he said, after pay-as-you-go legislation is disposed of. A House-Senate conference committee yesterday completed details of a compromise measure and the two bodies will vote on it next week.

Leaders expect the compromise to win quick approval of House and Senate. Authoritative sources said however the three House conferees who voted against the plan would go down the line in opposition to it. They were Reps. Dingell (D-Mich.), Disney (D-Okl.) and Cooper (D-Tenn.)

Great Fleet RAF Bombers Strike Essen, 23 Lost

London, May 28 —(AP)— A great fleet of heavy RAF bombers attacked Essen and other targets in the Ruhr last night a few hours after speedy Mosquito bombers had made a daring dusk attack on important German war industries in Jena, the British announced today.

Twenty-three bombers were lost in the Essen attack, said the announcement, which declared the raid was carried out "in great strength."

The number of planes engaged last night was reported only slightly fewer than the total sent on the records raids against Dortmund and Dusseldorf.

Other British planes laid mines in enemy waters during the night. Essen is the site of the sprawling Krupp munitions works, and is 22 miles northeast of Dusseldorf, which was blasted by the RAF in a smashing assault the night before last.

Essen became the most heavily bombed city in the world after the last previous raid on April 30 — an assault which brought the total weight of high explosive and fire bombs dumped on this target to more than 10,000 tons since the start of the war.

Three Italian Island Bases Again Blasted

By NOLAN NORGAARD
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, May 28 —(AP)— Allied bombers and fighters slashed again yesterday at Villacidro and Decimomannu, important Axis air fields in Sardinia and the island of Pantelleria, it was announced today.

Thirteen enemy fighters were destroyed in combat — all from a home's nest stirred up at Decimomannu — and many more on the ground in the continued softening up of Italy's outer defenses.

Speedy B-26 Marauders unloaded more than 4,000 fragmentation bombs over the Decimomannu air-drome. Crewmen said the explosions smashed a large number of grounded planes and damaged many more.

Strong enemy fighter groups intercepted the bombers, and a fierce, 18-minute running fight ensued. The Marauder gunners shot down seven of the attackers. The P-40 Warhawk escort account for six others.

The only American loss in the battle, in which enemy fighters pursued the bombers to within 25 miles of the North African coast, was a Warhawk which fell into the sea. The pilot was rescued.

Squadron leader Bernard Chouinard of Fall River, Mass., a Marauder gunner, related he shot down a Messerschmitt 109 which flew at the bomber with his "cannon firing so fast that the plane was bucking like a broncho."

"I was trading him shot for shot and my tracers were cutting right into him and cutting right into his engine," the sergeant said.

"When he got almost under us he rolled over and started down. Flames started coming out of the Messerschmitt and it exploded when it hit the ground."

Pirates and three large columns of smoke resulted from the bombing of Villacidro air-drome by B-25 Mitchells. Photographs showed many grounded aircraft to have been destroyed. P-38 Lightnings escorted the bombers shot up a 150-foot freighter in the Gulf of Palmas.

United States fighter-bombers twice raided battered Pantelleria. The explosive-carrying Lightnings and Warhawks struck against harbor defenses and artillery installations.

An explosion was caused when a bomb hit among buildings at the edge of the harbor. In the evening, a small formation of Warhawks blasted targets on the island's south coast.

The attacks yesterday from the Northwest African bases were a continuation of the finely coordinated Allied air offensive in which Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz's command is teamed with the Allied forces of Malta and the Middle East.

This coordination of effort is enabling Allied fighters and bombers to slash at Axis outposts along the entire central and eastern area of the Mediterranean.

In addition to the severe batter-

Barkley Won't Talk on Poll Tax Bill

Hot Springs, May 28 (AP) — Senator Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.) had plenty of talk on the state of his health today but not a word to say about the current anti-poll tax fight.

"I'm feeling fine and resting well," he said at the Army and Navy hospital where he is taking a three weeks course of baths. "I've had a touch of rheumatism but they're boiling that out of me quickly."

The Senate majority leader has been here a week. He plans to drop by home before returning to Washington.

Barkley laughed heartily when informed that Senator Theodore G. Bilbo (D-Miss.) was talking in terms of an 18-month filibuster.

During the previous fight on the anti-poll tax bill the majority leader took a firm stand in favor of the measure. He declined to comment for publication on his stand this time or to discuss proposed invocation of the cloture rule to limit debate.

Yanks Attack Last Main Jap Attu Position

Washington, May 28 —(AP)— United States troops have attacked the third main position the Japanese had held on Attu island south of Lake Kories, the Navy reported today, and indications were that the entire enemy force on the island was being rapidly broken up into very small points of resistance.

A Navy communique said:

"North Pacific:
"1. On May 26th:
"(A) United States army troops gained several important points along the ridge south of Chicago corridor. Hard hand to hand fighting over rugged terrain continued.

"(B) The United States army's northern forces have penetrated a part of Fish-hook ridge about one and five-eighths miles southwest of Chicago harbor. Fighting continues in order to clear the Japanese from the high peaks in the vicinity.

"(C) An attack by United States troops to eliminate the enemy from the ridge south of Lake Kories is in progress.

"2. On May 26th Army Mitchell medium bombers and Warhawk fighters made three attacks on Kiska, bombing the Japanese main camp area and runway. Numerous hits were observed.

Sharp Land, Air Battles Raging in Kuban Delta

—Europe

By WILLIAM MC GAFFIN

Moscow, May 28 —(AP)— Sharp land and air battles are raging in the Kuban delta area after a period of comparative quiet, but neither official Russian disclosures nor dispatches from the front today confirmed German reports that a Soviet army of 150,000 is attempting an all-out smash to Kerch strait.

"On the eastern front on the Kuban bridgehead the enemy continued his attacks all day yesterday, supported by tank forces and air formations," the German communique said.

"After heavy ding-dong fighting, in which the German air force took a decisive part with strong forces, the Soviets were repulsed with heavy losses inflicted on them. Apart from successful German shock troop and reconnaissance activity all was quiet on the remaining sectors of the eastern front."

Both the midnight and the noon communique were silent on the fighting northeast of Novorossisk, where the German radio declared at least 10 Russian divisions and a great wedge of tanks were trying to batter through a narrow sector under cover of more than 200 planes.

The German broadcast said the Russians scored temporary gains yesterday which were wiped out in German counter attacks by nightfall.

From the front line dispatches declared the Red Army had repelled a group of enemy infantry trying to improve its positions and said the Red Air Force and the German plane fleet were fighting great battles in the same area.

The Russians reported they ward off the Nazis, downing 64 German planes in one day and losing only 13 Russian craft meanwhile.

West of Rostov the Red Army was reported to have taken the initiative in violent local combats which resulted in the capture of an important hill and a general improvement of the Russian position. The Germans made repeated but vain attempts to recapture the hill, it was said.

Artillery exchanges and scouting forays marked yesterday's action along other sectors of the battlefield, especially in the Smolensk, Kalinin, Volkov and Donets river fronts, the latter south of Bialskaya.

The Soviet Union communique told of continued Russian activity in those areas and west of Rostov, and noted new stirrings on the Leningrad front where eight German planes were reported shot down and 34 German outposts destroyed by Red Army detachments that killed about 200 of the enemy.

Long range Red Army planes blasted German airdromes and a slip and planes in the Black Sea fleet sank two enemy motor barges, the noon war bulletin said without going into detail on the engagement.

A Red Navy force has been waiting in the Black sea for any attempt to evacuate the Germans from Novorossisk. A Russian drive into the Taman peninsula to the shores of Kerch strait, across from the Crimea, would split the German forces around Novorossisk and pen in the Axis Novorossisk defenders with their escape possibly only by the Red Navy — guarded Black sea route.

Allied Invasion Intentions Big Strain on Hitler's Nerves

Analysis of the News by Mackenzie

Editorial Comment Written Today and Moved by Telegraph or Cable.

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Hitler's brain trust appears to be wandering about in a foggy uncertainty regarding Allied intentions—a strained state of mind not relieved any by President Roosevelt's unambiguous announcement that "the conference of the combined staffs in Washington has ended in complete agreement on future operations in all theaters of the war."

You couldn't blame the poor Fuehrer if he got mad and called the war off, on the grounds that the enemy is using unfair tactics. As an illustration of the position, important crises in the Boche capital yesterday produced these divergent ideas:

The Allies are getting ready for invasion and Germany must go on the defensive. There will be a Russian offensive. There won't be a Russian offensive for at least a month. There won't be any Russian offensive this summer. Stalin won't attack the Nazis first because he isn't sure whether the Anglo-American combination is ready to invade Western Europe.

In the midst of this muddy speculation came word of the successful Red attack against the fiercely defended German bridgehead on the Kuban delta opposite the Crimea. But while the Nazis knew that they had taken a beating, this didn't clarify the question of who is going to inaugurate the summer's grand slam—if any—and when.

The Russian drive is for the purpose of ousting the Nazis entirely from this side gateway to the Caucasus. The Germans have been hanging onto this sector for dear life, in hope of being able to land an army there from the Crimea, which lies just across the narrow strait of Kerch.

Therefore the Red move is in the first place defensive. However, if successful it immediately puts the Bolsheviks in position to cap-

That much isn't difficult to figure out. But is Stalin going to undertake a major offensive, or does he indeed intend to wait until John Bull and Uncle Sam have clambered ashore in Western Europe?

Well, only the Allied high command knows that—we hope. If America and Britain are going to be able to invade Western Europe in the near future, then it wouldn't be surprising if it has been a good that Stalin shall hold his and so that concerted offensives can be made on both the eastern and western fronts.

This would put Herr Hitler in a position similar in some ways to that occupied by the Kaiser in the last war, that is, hurling troops madly back and forth across Europe to defend two fronts at once. However, the Munich paper-hanger suffers from a disability which didn't afflict his August predecessor—Germany's transport system is pretty well shot to pieces now, and speedy movement of troops and supplies would be a tough problem.

It would be particularly difficult because of the terrific air power which the Allied can bring against communications—something the old Kaiser didn't have to worry about greatly.

However, if the Allied high command isn't prepared to undertake major offensives anywhere in Europe in the near future, then it's likely that Stalin either will strike at Hitler, or that the latter will have one more great fling at trying to destroy the Red military machine. One would scarcely expect the eastern front to remain in a state of comparative inaction throughout the good fighting months of the summer.

Actually Hitler and Stalin are sparring with each other up and down the entire length of the thousand mile battle front, looking for an opening that may permit of more extensive operations. Hitler, of course, is having to be doubly cautious so as not to get caught with a big offensive in Western Europe while he is launching an attack against Russia.

Atlanta, May 28 —(AP)—Big innings were the order of the evening in the Southern Association last night, and the biggest of all helped Nashville bounce Birmingham out of first place.

Chattanooga scored six in the seventh to beat Memphis 7-4. The choo-choos thereby slipping into third place, a half game ahead of Little Rock.

Leading 6-2 going into the last of the fourth, the Crackers exploded seven runs, then had to rush the Veteran Elmer "Pep" Rambert to the hill in the seventh to squelch a traveler outbreak that netted five. Atlanta finally won 16-12.

Eight pitchers saw service in the bargain bill but the Cracker chunkers had the edge. Ed "Bear Tracks" Greer and Frank Papish had no luck at all with Atlanta in the finale as the Crackers laced out 21 hits.

Allen Fined $200, Given Suspension
New York, May 28 —(AP)—Johnny Allen, veteran Brooklyn pitcher, was suspended for 30 days and fined $200 today by president Ford Frick of the National League for his part in the argument during the eighth inning of last night's game between the Dodgers and Pirates in Pittsburgh.

Frick also fined pitchers Les Webber $75 and Rube Melton $50.

Allen was on the mound when Umpire George Barr called a balk on the hurler. The Brooklyn pitcher's temper flared and he made a rush for Barr. After a brief tussle other players finally separated Allen from Barr. But, meanwhile, another verbal skirmish broke out. As the result, Webber, Melton and Fred Fitzsimmons joined Allen in a trip to the showers.

Beth Carter, WAAC

BY LORETTE COOPER

COPYRIGHT, 1943, NEA SERVICE, INC.

IN THE FIGHT CHAPTER XVII

"HALT! Who is there?" a soldier's voice called.

"Advance slowly, officer of the post, and be recognized." She moved slowly toward the voice. She could see no one. She realized what a target she would be for a cat-eyed sentry if she aroused suspicion.

Suddenly a powerful flashlight was beamed on her—for only a second, just long enough for the sentry to see her, but not long enough for her to make certain within even a few feet where the beam was coming from.

"Continue to advance," the sentry ordered. She took another two steps, then fell.

"I... I can't. I'm injured." The sentry was at her side in an instant.

"You're Lieutenant Carter?" he asked.

"Yes." "I never expected to see you here, sir." Then he was confused. "Or should I say sir?"

"Sir suits me," Beth said. He turned the light, its beam carefully guarded so that it would not shine vertically, onto her ankle. It was swollen, despite the wrapping.

"I've got to get you in," he said. "It's a long way. But we should be able to have a stretcher here in a couple of hours."

BETH heard the anti-aircraft guns again. Two hours would be too late.

Then she saw the sentry unstrap a case from under his arm. He turned a knob. Her eyes, becoming more accustomed to the dark, saw that he was operating something which appeared to be a portable radio. Then she recognized the instrument—it was one of the United States Signal Corps' walkie-talkies.

"Can you get headquarters?" she asked.

"Yes, sir. That's what I'm doing."

"Then... and the order came clearly and distinctly, for Beth knew now what the answer to the situation was... "tell them that the airplane they're shooting at is piloted by Major Brit Jackson, who is trying to land."

Flood Danger in Arkansas Believed Over

Little Rock, May 28 — (P) — Danger from the Arkansas river's second record breaking flood in three weeks lessened today as the unruly stream neared its crest at Pine Bluff.

The river began falling here last night and its recession at upstream points accelerated. It crested here at 30 feet, overflowing approximately 50 blocks—some to a four-foot depth.

Expressing confidence in the Mississippi river—lype levees below Pine Bluff, U. S. Engineers never the less remained on the alert while state guardsmen and army troops maintained constant patrols of the dikes between here and Pine Bluff.

The 55th engineers, a map Claiborne, La., regiment that helped build the Alcan highway, were reinforcing a four-mile section of the levee near Reydel which went out in the 1927 flood.

Water—rationed Fort Smith saw army engineer troops restore emergency lines to the city's regular water source last night. Less than 40 hours after the troops began a pontoon span to carry temporary pipelines across a washed out bridge approach, water was pouring into the city's reservoirs.

Water Commissioner Jay Medina said rationing, in effect since Sunday, would continue until the reservoirs were safely filled. The main line broke under the first flood a fortnight ago. An emergency line on pontoons snapped last week under the second.

The water situation at nearby Camp Robinson eased after emergency repairs were made on an under-river main which snapped Tuesday.

The Yankees have led the American League in home runs for the last seven years.

Increase in State Retail Sales

Washington, May — (P) — Sales of independent retailers in Arkansas, on the basis of reports from 211 stores other than department stores, increased eight per cent in April as compared with April, 1942, a census bureau report shows.

They increased six per cent from March to April of this year, and eight per cent for the first four months of this year compared with the corresponding period last year.

Ten department stores recorded a sales gain of 34 per cent in April over the same month a year ago, eight per cent for April over March of this year, and 44 per cent for the first four months of the year compared with the same period last year.

"Tell me all about it while the captain works on my ankle," Beth said.

"I got down within a few minutes of the time your radio message came through—they signaled me to let me know that my identity was established. You can imagine I was spending some pretty bad minutes up there."

"You were in a dangerous place," Beth said. "I heard the anti-aircraft guns."

"I wasn't thinking of myself," Brit said, and he took her hand in his. "I was thinking of how you might have been killed in that jump."

"Anyone would have done the same thing. I couldn't fly a plane, so there was nothing left for me except to jump."

"Have it your way—I'm going to tell a different story in dispatches. What I have to tell the general will read like fiction." He looked at her. She couldn't succeed in keeping a blush from her cheeks.

"It's not over yet, though, Beth," Brit said. "We're expecting a raid within a few hours. I haven't been able to get much out of Lita's pals, but I believe the Jap put a message through to his base, wherever it may be. I'd say there will be a raid by tomorrow evening at the absolute latest, and maybe by tonight. By the way, how do you feel?"

The medical captain interrupted.

"If you think I'm going to give this girl a CC pill and mark her duty you're wrong, Major."

"Of course not," Brit agreed.

"We'll compromise," Beth said. "We'll cut out the CC pill, but I'll be marked duty. I'm able to sit up, and when I get some nourishment I can answer a telephone or watch a spotter's chart or do something else. You need every man you can get out in the field, Major. I know darned little about this island's defenses, but I know this much. I'm in this fight to the end!"

Washington

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — Although it didn't get a mention, the flight of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, won director of foreign relief and rehabilitation, to England and back was his first airplane trip. The Governor admits he has never been particularly air-minded, has not had occasion in recent years to wander far afield, and when such occasion arose always had the leisure to employ more prosaic modes of travel.

When his plane was set down in Horta, in the Azores, he felt that he was just about as far off base as a farm boy from the hills of Tennessee heading for Japan in New Guinea.

Imagine his consternation then on his arrival there to hear a shout from a cluster of hard looking youngsters: "Cripes, it's the Governor." Better acquaintance disclosed that the lads were a group of U. S. merchant marine sailors who had been torpedoed off the Azores and that most of them were from Brooklyn.

The faces of our city fathers here (the three D. C. commissioners appointed by the President) probably aren't red but they should be. They have just handed down an order that knocks out a generous portion of the Victory Gardens in the District.

It seems that when the city was milled out, the District retained 90 feet of property for all thoroughfares. With most of the streets 30 feet wide, that means that 30 feet still belongs to the District. In the older part of Washington, it means right up to the building line. In the new parts it takes in most of the front yard. Because the city city is such a jigsaw of streets, there are thousands of homes which have no front, side or backyards they can call their own.

An old ordinance forbids the planting of vegetable gardens on District property—flowers, shrubs and shade trees are okay, but no edibles.

One energetic patrolman in the Northeast section of the city renumbered the ordinance, ordered the wife of a Government Printing Office employee there to plow under her Victory Garden or else, and brought the whole thing to light. The city fathers, not only backed up the copper but in structured the entire police force to go snooping for Victory Gardens that are on the "public parking" as the District-owned space back from the streets is called.

End War Conference May Mark Final Stage of Global Conflict

Washington, May 28 —(AP)—Conclusion of the strategy conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill was viewed in some quarters today as marking the beginning of the final phase of this global war—a phase in which the United Nations are destined to undertake full-scale offensives in both Europe and the Pacific.

The end of the historic meeting was announced by Mr. Roosevelt late yesterday. He said simply "complete agreement" had been reached on future plans. What those plans are will become known only as they unfold in action.

The wording of the president's statement, however, suggested that when the conference began there were questions of vast strategic importance which required answering to the satisfaction of both British and American leaders. The fact, as Mr. Roosevelt indicates, they have now been answered leaves no doubt that decisions of supreme importance have been made.

The president's statement said only this: "The conference of the combined staffs in Washington has ended in complete agreement on future operations in theaters of the war."

That the war against Japan received the fullest consideration was made clear by Mr. Churchill in his address to Congress. Yet it was equally clear that there had been no change in the grand strategy previously agreed upon to smash Germany first and Japan second.

In the absence of any hints as to what the conference accomplished in either the military or political fields, informed persons here speculated on the probability of several future developments:

The present strategic bombing of Germany will be followed by an Allied invasion of the continent this summer. It will develop at times and places where the Allies drive to throw the Japanese out of the Aleutian Islands began with a surprise flanking attack on Attu rather than a frontal assault on Kiska.

The war in Europe is expected to be won by sometime next year at the latest, but the conflict in the Pacific may run on until 1945 or 1946, according to reliable estimates.

The forces available for use against Japan's Pacific flank have been greatly increased. President Roosevelt revealed at a recent press conference that the bulk of American strength already was in the Pacific. When those forces grow sufficiently strong and the time is right, there probably will be an American thrust which will so directly threaten Japanese vital interests that the Japanese fleet will be compelled to fight.

Destruction of that fleet is generally considered to be the primary objective of the American naval high command. Occupation of new island bases, now that the Southwest Pacific have been secured, is secondary to that purpose. But Japanese strategy has become so defensive within the last six months that they no longer appear willing to fight for a position which they do not need vitally.

Their failure to make a counter-attack by sea on United States forces at Attu island—which stands in direct contrast to the long struggle they put up for Guadalcanal—not only doomed their garrison there but also at their main Aleutian base on Kiska.

The weakest spot in the Allied ring around China at present, observers here agree, is on the continent of Asia, China which could be made a formidable offensive base, is isolated from British and American armaments except by air transports from India. Reopening of the Burma road remains the number one task of the Allied forces in India so bulk supplies may be moved into China rapidly.

The presence of Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell, the Allied chief in India, and his top sea and air officers in Washington for the Roosevelt-Churchill talks gave considerable weight to speculation that a drive to break the Japanese hold on Burma is a primary objective of the high command.

Participation of Russia in the war against Japan would quickly solve the problem of bases from which to bomb the main Japanese islands, but this may not be possible at least until the war in Europe is won.

Washington, May 28 —(AP)—President Roosevelt created a new Office of War Mobilization today to be directed by James F. Byrnes, who will exercise virtually complete powers over all home front war.

The new office is to: Develop unified programs and establishing policies for maximum use of America's natural and industrial resources for military and civilian needs for effective use of national manpower outside the armed forces for maintenance and stabilization of civilian economy and for adjusting that economy to wartime conditions.

Byrnes is giving up his job as economic stabilization director, and that will be taken over by Judge Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky, now a member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia. Vinson served in Congress for 14 years before he went on the bench and

Search Begins for Idle Farm Machinery
Washington, May 28 —(AP)—The War Food Administration embarked today on a nationwide search for idle farm machinery, announcing it would be requisitioned by the government and distributed where it is needed most to boost food production.

The WFA promised farmers a reasonable price for such machinery. How much could be salvaged for release to active production areas has not been estimated.

A spokesman said a wholesale of farm implements was left by Japanese removed from their west coast farms after Pearl Harbor and this probably will get the first attention in the campaign.

The county war boards have been instructed to look around for machinery not being used now, or expected to be put into service this summer. Their findings will be submitted to state headquarters with recommendations for acquiring specific pieces and the State War Board chairman then is to proceed with the purchase.

Owners will be paid ceiling prices or "fair appraisal" values if not ceilings have been established, and the equipment will be resold to farmers who need it.

In making their recommendations for requisitions, the county war boards will certify (1) whether the owner of the machinery is known to them (2) that he is not a member of the armed forces; and (3) that he has been notified that the machinery is needed and has refused to negotiate with a responsible purchaser.

Where the owner is not known to the war board, the board will report the amount and kinds of machinery involved, circumstances under which it is being held, and its precise location.

Also, the county war boards must certify to their state boards that the machinery is needed to meet food production goals within the localities and that responsible purchasers can be found for the machinery when it is requisitioned.

The county war boards will post public notices that the machinery will be requisitioned and sold at a specified time and place.

The new Office of War Mobilization was created in the Office of Emergency Management in the president's executive office. Therefore it will be subject to the "direction and control of the president."

The executive order setting it up said it was to unify activities of federal agencies and departments "concerned or concerned with production, procurement, distribution or transportation of military or civilian supplies, materials and products and to resolve and determine controversies between such agencies or departments."

Chicago, May 28 —(AP)—Rye rallied from the day's lows today after declining about a cent, but could not recoup all of the previously lost ground. Some local traders took to the buying side in a much lighter trade than has characterized recent sessions.

Some hedge selling appeared in September wheat and all contracts of that grain weakened. There were reports of cash wheat being offered more freely in the west. Oats sank on commission house selling on the basis of fairly liberal imports of Canadian oats into this country.

At the close wheat was 1-4-3-4 lower, July 1-43 3-4-7-8, September $1.44 1-4-1-44, corn was unchanged, July $1.05, oats were off 1-8-1-2 and rye finished 1-4 lower to 1-8 higher.

That agreement — Involving Canada, Argentina, Australia, the United States and Great Britain — is designed to promote postwar stability of wheat prices and supplies.

Consumers were cautioned by Chairman Richard K. Law of the British delegation against expecting a quick achievement of conference aims.

In a broadcast, law said it would be absurd to suppose that "problems of this complexity can be finally solved by a conference at Hot Springs — or anywhere else."

"In not saying that the problem won't be solved. It will be. All I am saying is that if the work that has been begun by the 44 nations represented here is carried to fruition, a generation or two from now, the problems that perplex us won't be the same problems that baffled us ten years ago."

The conference was preparing reports and drafting resolutions for submission to the final plenary session, tentatively set for June 3.

Washington, May 28 —(AP)—President Roosevelt created a new Office of War Mobilization today to be directed by James F. Byrnes, who will exercise virtually complete powers over all home front war.

The new office is to: Develop unified programs and establishing policies for maximum use of America's natural and industrial resources for military and civilian needs for effective use of national manpower outside the armed forces for maintenance and stabilization of civilian economy and for adjusting that economy to wartime conditions.

Byrnes is giving up his job as economic stabilization director, and that will be taken over by Judge Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky, now a member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia. Vinson served in Congress for 14 years before he went on the bench and

The new Office of War Mobilization was created in the Office of Emergency Management in the president's executive office. Therefore it will be subject to the "direction and control of the president."

The executive order setting it up said it was to unify activities of federal agencies and departments "concerned or concerned with production, procurement, distribution or transportation of military or civilian supplies, materials and products and to resolve and determine controversies between such agencies or departments."

Lefty Grove, former great Philadelphia and Boston pitcher, was beaten thirteen straight times by Washington before he could score a triumph.

Elbie Fletcher, Pirates' first baseman, won a newspaper contest as the best schoolboy baseball player to break into the big leagues.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Chicago, May 28 —(AP)—Rye rallied from the day's lows today after declining about a cent, but could not recoup all of the previously lost ground. Some local traders took to the buying side in a much lighter trade than has characterized recent sessions.

Some hedge selling appeared in September wheat and all contracts of that grain weakened. There were reports of cash wheat being offered more freely in the west. Oats sank on commission house selling on the basis of fairly liberal imports of Canadian oats into this country.

At the close wheat was 1-4-3-4 lower, July 1-43 3-4-7-8, September $1.44 1-4-1-44, corn was unchanged, July $1.05, oats were off 1-8-1-2 and rye finished 1-4 lower to 1-8 higher.

The new B. R. Hamm Motor Company building at 205-15 East Second street. It has a 100-foot front, and is 125 feet deep. At right, B. R. Hamm.

Celebrating Our 20th Year as Your Dodge-Plymouth Dealer

B. R. Hamm Motor Company, Hope dealer for Dodge and Plymouth cars and Dodge Trucks since 1923, has purchased and moved into a new and spacious home at 205-15 East Second street.

This marks B. R. Hamm's 23rd year of service to the public with the same line of products—the last 20 years spent in Hope. He came out of the Army after the other war and established the Dodge franchise at Stamps, Ark. Three years later, in October 1923, he purchased the local Dodge-Plymouth agency from Rhodes Brothers and moved to Hope.

The climax of 23 years' continuous service to the motor trade is this investment in a permanent business home—an expression of faith in America, the Automobile Industry, and Hope, in the days to come.

PARTS DEPARTMENT

Our parts facilities have been greatly expanded in the new building. We have been assured by the factory that the parts supply will be constant and ample during the period of emergency. We will endeavor at all times to keep necessary parts on hand to meet the needs of all Dodge, Plymouth and Dodge Truck owners in this territory.

GOODYEAR TIRES

We are carrying, in line with the factory's ability to supply us, a full line of Goodyear tires and tubes—the most famous name in rubber.

ACCESSORIES

Willard Batteries.
Philco Dodge and Plymouth Radios.
Custom-built car heaters.

Lubrication facilities, including one hydraulic and one electric lift, and the most modern type of high-pressure lubrication equipment.

All this equipment is in the hands of men with long experience, some of whom have had factory training in maintaining cars and trucks.
